

WHAT IS CHILDREN'S SUNDAY SCHOOL ALL ABOUT?

Written by Mark Jones

I am hot the trail of enlisting workers and I figure you are too. Right now I'm so tired from children's camp and Vacation Bible School that I just want to lay down and sleep for a week. But NO! I need to follow-up on the kids that made decisions in these events and write Thank You notes to the army of workers and sponsors who have been faithfully serving. OH! And yes, I need to enlist teachers for Sunday School which kicks off in August when school starts.

(That's all!)

As I am deep in my search making phone calls and personal visits, I am describing the joy of teaching kids on Sunday mornings. I thought I would share with you, what is children's Sunday School all about. I hope this helps as you enlist your teachers and describe the great work of teaching kids..

Children's Sunday School Teachers:

1. Help lead children to Christ by laying biblical foundations for Christian conversation.
2. Demonstrate the love of God to children by showing you really care for them.
3. Show how a knowledge of God's word helps children in their daily lives.
4. Teach children that going to church is important, exciting, and rewarding.
5. Nurture fellowship by helping children make new friends.
6. Build relationships with parents and family members to strengthen your church.
7. Build biblical values in children that will help protect them against the evil influences of the world.
8. Provide guidance to children about finding God's will for their lives.
9. Provide Bible-based training about who God is; As Father, Son, and the Holy Spirit.
10. Reap the reward of watching the children you teach grow and mature in Christ.
